Given that Lalita's* experience of the Cool Breeze of the Holy Spirit in Montreal is the same as Gurpall's* Dasam Dwaar opening in Toronto and Vipin's* Kundalini Shakti awakening in Kuala Lumpur, the choice between rape and salvation is whether even a single priest, pastor, bishop, pope, rabbi, imam, mullah, shaikh, ayatollah, swami, pandit, brahmin, acarya, granthi, giani, lama, monk, or dalai lama ever had one! Most will choose the patriarchal position. (September 22, 2020)

Gurpall's* experience of his Dasam Dwaar opening in Toronto

Since I have not recorded Gurpall's experience of Shri Mataji opening his Dasam Dwaar and his feeling the Cool Breeze flowing from the top of his head, you may call him at 1-(438)-879-6574. The only evidence I have of our Toronto trip to meet Shri Mataji in 1994 is this:

The Priceless Present

In September 1994, plans were made to attend Shri Mataji Nirmala Devi's public program in Toronto. This was the first time Kash's family would be able to see Her human form.

For nearly a year they had been listening to him describing what She was in his Sahasrara, awakening them to a Reality that had destroyed all delusion. From the very instance this child had his Kundalini awakened there had been an eruption of Truth that any human would have surrendered to. Their own son was telling them that he was daily meditating with a Great Mother together with all the prophets of all religions, and that the Kingdom of Heaven exists!

This same Great Mother was also coming to Toronto, Canada to give Self-Realization to humans. Kash's family was eager to see this Shri Mataji who had revealed Herself and so overwhelmingly assured them that beyond the illusion of a temporary worldly existence lay an eternal Spiritual Realm.

As the days came nearer Kash began to say that he did not want to go. He was meeting Her every day in his Sahasrara and thus there was no reason to see Her mortal form. Moreover, he was susceptible to travel sickness and wished to be spared the discomfort.

The family did not mind him talking that way for they thought he would be ready when the day came.

On September 24, 1994, just hours before leaving, he again informed that he did not want to go. However his father insisted and he reluctantly agreed as there was no one to stay back. His parents were determined to see Shri Mataji Nirmala Devi, the Goddess of their son's Sahasrara that was showing them the path out of their material bondage. There was no question of anyone remaining behind just for his sake, notwithstanding all the enlightenment he had given them.

Just before departure everyone meditated. Kash then informed his father that Shri Mataji had told him it was not necessary for him to go to Toronto. As far as She was concerned it made no difference whether he meets Her in Toronto or his Sahasrara. Kash reminded that he did not ask Her to be excused, or even discuss the issue. The Great Adi Shakti had witnessed the whole incident and told Kash that he need not go.

This caused a small dilemma. Here they were all ready to leave and there was Kash with permission from the Great Adi Shakti that it was not necessary to go. How to overcome this obstacle and still please all parties?

Suddenly his father remembered something: Shri Mataji Nirmala Devi had to be presented with the "Rock of Ganesha" that had been delivered and picked up by him on the shore of the St. Lawrence Seaway a few weeks earlier. This was a piece of an ancient meteorite used aeons ago by the gods during spiritual ceremonies, and now in the family's possession. The parents strongly felt that it was Kash's duty to give part of this priceless iron rock back to Her as a gift. On hearing this he agreed, and everyone left for Toronto.

Vipin's* experience of his Kundalini Shakti awakening in Kuala Lumpur

"Know That The Jagdamba Itself Is Nothing Else But Adi Shakti."

Vipin Kumar Kothari was a conditioned, strictly vegetarian Jain, worshipping an army of Hindu Deities neatly arranged on his altar. He was seriously seeking material wealth in booming Malaysia and did not have the time, desire or faith to recognize Shri Mataji Nirmala Devi as the manifestation of Shri Adi Shakti.

He finally requested Self-Realization in January 1995 from Kash's father, more than a year after telling him that evil Spirits possessed Kash. He probably did so more out of obligation to his closest friend than a genuine desire for Spiritual enlightenment.

When Kash's father checked his friend's prayer altar there were no vibrations coming from it, although there were about 20 or so miniature, hardly identifiable idols neatly arranged in a row. He tried a few times to feel the Paramchaitanya around such a venerated place but there was none. It felt like a deserted religious wasteland where even hundreds and thousands of rituals failed to give it life. (The cheap, coarse, crudely made murtis were actually an insult to Reality — all gross matter without Spirit. He had also yet to come across a single Vedic quote that allowed idol-worship.)

This disturbed him as it was the first time that he had come across so little Spiritual Energy in a prayer area. Vipin was told about this dearth of divinity. He replied that his medium-friend Selva had told him to change the position of the altar. Kash's father replied, "But Vipin, God is everywhere." There was no reply. The answer was obvious.

Nevertheless, Vipin was given Self-Realization from a tiny image of Shri Mataji placed on the altar. He felt the Kundalini moving up from his Mooladhara to his Anahath (Centre Heart) Chakra, the residence of Shri Durga, and stopping there. That is where it will remain until he accepts that Shri Mataji Nirmala Devi is not only Shri Jagdamba, not only the Great Adi Shakti, but also the Ultimate Reality as well.

Being an accountant in his firm, Accosec Consultants Sdn. Bhd., there was no way he could account for this unique physical experience of Kundalini awakening.

On December 1, 1996, when he called at 9:40 a.m. from Malaysia his Kundalini was still stopping — or what is known in Sahaja Yoga as 'catching' — at the centre of his chest (Center Heart Chakra), after nearly two years of Self-Realization. On August 15, 1997, his reply was the same, but by June 1998 he could hardly feel it anymore.

But he had stopped meditating almost immediately after Self-Realization. So what and where is the Source that made his Kundalini move for so long, an experience that serious yoga aficionados and their masters take many rebirths to achieve?
