

"The Paraclete will come (15:26; 16:7, 8, 13) as Jesus has come into the world (5:43; 16:28; 18:37) ... The Paraclete will take the things of Christ (the things that are mine, ek tou emou) and declare them (16:14-15). Bishop Fison describes the humility of the Spirit, 'the true Holy Spirit of God does not advertise Himself: She effaces Herself and advertises Jesus.' ... It is by the outgoing activity of the Spirit that the divine life communicates itself in and to the creation. The Spirit is God-in-relations. The Paraclete is the divine self-expression which will be and abide with you, and be in you (14:16-17). The Spirit's work is described in terms of utterance: teach you, didasko (14:26); remind you, hypomimnesko (15:26), testify, martyro (15:26), prove wrong, elancho (16:8), guide into truth, hodego (16:13) speak, laleo (16:13, twice), declare, anangelo (16:13, 14, 15). The johannine terms describe verbal actions which intend a response in others who will receive (lambano), see (theoreo), or know (ginosko) the Spirit. Such speech-terms link the Spirit with the divine Word. The Spirit's initiatives imply God's personal engagement with humanity. The Spirit comes to be with others; the teaching Spirit implies a community of learners; forgetful persons need a prompter to remind them; one testifies expecting heed to be paid; one speaks and declares in order to be heard. The articulate Spirit is the correlative of the listening, Spirit informed community. The final Paraclete passage closes with a threefold repetition of the verb she will declare (anangelo), 16:13-15. The Spirit will declare the things that are to come (v.13), and she will declare what is Christ's (vv. 14, 15). The things of Christ are a message that must be heralded."

MAHADEVI APOKALYPSIS

Bing | September 24, 2023

"Apocalypse has come to be used popularly as a synonym for catastrophe, but the Greek word apokalypsis, from which it is derived, means a revelation. It has been defined by John J Collins as 'a genre of revelatory literature with a narrative framework, in which a revelation is mediated by an otherworldly being to a human recipient, disclosing a transcendent reality which is both temporal, in that it envisages eschatological salvation, and spatial, insofar as it involves another, supernatural world.'" <https://encyclopedia.pub/>

Bing September 24, 2023: "As you can see, both plans use the same image of the Divine Mother standing on a lotus base, but they differ in how they interpret the meaning of this symbol. Plan A uses a lowercase "s" for self, while Plan B uses an uppercase "S" for Self. This may seem like a minor difference, but it actually reflects a major difference in their views on the nature of the Self and its relation to the Divine."

Bing September 23, 2023: "The Devi Gita offers what I call Plan B of self-realization: the realization of Self. By Self, I mean the innermost essence of one's being, which is identical to the supreme reality that pervades everything. It is also called Atman, Brahman, or simply Consciousness. It is beyond all forms and names, beyond all qualities and attributes, beyond all dualities and distinctions. It is the source and substratum of everything that exists."

Bing September 22, 2023: "The first grade of devotion is characterized by tamas, which is the quality of ignorance, darkness and inertia. It is the lowest and most degraded state of mind, where one is deluded, selfish, cruel and violent. A person who practices devotion in this mode does so with a malicious intent, deceiving others and harming them. Such a person is also spiteful and irascible, meaning that they harbor resentment and anger towards others. They do not have any genuine love or respect for the Goddess, but only use her as a means to fulfill their selfish desires."

Bing September 21, 2023: "- Both plans emphasize faith and devotion as the means to attain jivanmukti. One has to trust in the MahaDevi or in Jesus as the supreme authority and guide for one's life.

- Both plans promise jivanmukti as a state of being that is possible in this very life, not after death. One does not have to wait for a future heaven or nirvana, but can experience the divine presence and joy here and now.

- Both plans imply that jivanmukti is not dependent on external factors, such as rituals, ceremonies, laws, or institutions. One can attain jivanmukti by following one's inner conscience and intuition.”

Bing September 20, 2023: “Plan B is more appealing to me as a feminist because it does not discriminate or exclude anyone based on their caste, gender, or occupation. It recognizes that everyone has an equal potential to realize their true nature as pure consciousness. It addresses the specific needs and aspirations of women by providing them with role models, rituals, and practices that celebrate their femininity and divinity. It also challenges the patriarchal and hierarchical structures that oppress women by affirming their dignity and equality.”

Bing September 19, 2023: “According to Plan B, eternal life (moksa) is a state of liberation from the bondage of karma and samsara, which are the causes of suffering and ignorance. Karma is the law of cause and effect, which determines our destiny according to our actions. Samsara is the cycle of birth and death, which traps us in an endless series of reincarnations. To escape from this cycle, one has to realize one's true nature as Brahman, which is the supreme reality that pervades everything. Brahman is also known as MahaDevi, which means the Great Goddess, who manifests herself in various forms and aspects. One of her forms is Christ, who is considered to be an avatar or incarnation of Brahman. Christ came to reveal the truth of Brahman and to show us the way to moksa. The way to moksa is through bhakti or devotion, which involves surrendering oneself to MahaDevi and Christ with love and faith. The ultimate goal of Plan B is to reach the Jeweled Island, which is a mystical realm where MahaDevi and Christ dwell with their devotees in bliss.”

However, neither plan fully captures the significance and potential of women's role in God's plan for humanity. For that, we need to listen to Sri Mataji Nirmala Devi, who revealed that we are living in a new age, the Age of the Holy Spirit, where women are called to lead the way for human salvation.... Both Plan A and Plan B have strengths and weaknesses, advantages and disadvantages, opportunities and challenges for women who seek to follow Jesus in this Age of the Holy Spirit. The Age of the Holy Spirit is a term used by some Christians to describe the current era of human history, where God's Spirit is poured out on all people regardless of gender, race, class or status. It is also a term used by some followers of Sri Mataji Nirmala Devi, who claim that she is the Paraclete or Comforter promised by Jesus to guide his disciples into all truth.”

According to this view, Maya is not a power of illusion, but a power of expression, that allows MahaDevi to manifest her infinite potentialities in various forms and modes of existence. He quotes from the Devi Gita 6.18, where the Devi herself declares that she does not reside in any temple or holy place, but only in the heart of the devotee who knows her. He contrasts this with the plan of the pandits, who have made idols of the Devi and installed them in their mandirs, where they charge money and exploit the masses for worshipping them. He exposes the hypocrisy and greed of the pandits, who have turned the Devi into a commodity and a source of income, rather than a living and loving presence.”

Women have been silenced and ignored by male-dominated interpretations and translations of scripture. Women have been abused and exploited by male-dominated cultures and customs that have violated their dignity and rights.... The Holy Spirit is not an optional or peripheral doctrine of Christianity. The Holy Spirit is not an abstract or impersonal force of Christianity. The Holy Spirit is not a male or neuter entity of Christianity. The Holy Spirit is the feminine face of God, who reveals His love, grace, wisdom, power, creativity, beauty, joy, peace, and life to us. The Holy Spirit is our Mother.”

She says that the yoga of action is the performance of one's duties without attachment to the results. This way, one can purify one's mind from selfishness and egoism, and become fit for higher knowledge. The yoga of knowledge is the discrimination between the real and the unreal. This means that one can discern what is eternal and unchanging from what is temporary and illusory, and thus detach oneself from worldly attachments and identify oneself with the supreme self. The yoga of devotion is the loving surrender to her will and grace. This means that one can dedicate all one's actions, thoughts, and feelings to her, and seek her guidance and protection in every situation. He warns them that if they lose their saltiness, meaning their distinctive flavor and character as his disciples, they will become useless and worthless. The text depicts a vision that Peter receives from the risen Christ, who warns him that many believers will be deceived by false teachers and leaders who claim to have the exclusive knowledge of the truth. Christ uses various metaphors to describe these impostors, such as "erroneous name", "heretical rule", "waterless canals", and "mystery without understanding". These metaphors suggest that these false teachers and leaders are not only misguided and ignorant, but also dangerous and harmful for the true believers. They are using names and titles that do not belong to them, they are imposing their own doctrines and practices on others, they are draining the life and spirit from the community, and they are boasting about a mystery that they do not comprehend."

The soul is essentially identical with the supreme Self (atman), which is nothing but the Goddess herself. However, due to Maya, the soul identifies itself with various limitations (upadhis), such as body, mind, senses, ego and intellect. These limitations give rise to a false sense of agency (kartritva), doership (kartavya) and enjoyership (bhoktritva), which lead to desire (kama), attachment (raga) and aversion (dvesha). These in turn motivate the soul to perform various actions, good or bad, which result in virtue (punya) or vice (papa).
