

AADHA AKASH <the.great.conjunction.2020.12.21@gmail.com>

ESCHATOLOGY: 2000 years ago, the Prince of this World began to penetrate the Church; and demons from hell in the guise of popes

1 message

Jagbir Singh <s.jagbir@gmail.com>

Mon, Jul 12, 2021 at 6:06 PM

To: AADHA AKASH <the.great.conjunction.2020.12.21@gmail.com>

2000 years ago, the Prince of this World began to penetrate the Church; and demons from hell in the guise of popes have occupied the Chair of Peter since. Today just 20 meters remain for Satan to penetrate the present Pope. (July 12, 2021)

July 8, 2021

Yesterday and the day before has been difficult, especially today morning when I almost got a panic attack from all the stress of realizing a most formidable foe of the Savior who, though hiding in plain sight of history, continues to remain invisible. 7/8/2021 Gmail - ESCHATOLOGY: This pariah dog will have to keep licking the Pentecost Phlegm—the First Supper of the Prince of the World ...

I felt the fear and weakness of being alone, or almost alone, in being able to see the invisible foe of Jesus today and trying to do the impossible for Christ tomorrow. How can others see the Prince of the World who has remained disguised as divine for 2000 years?

The answer finally came at 7.35 a.m. today: Did Jesus consciously choose crucifixion to finally defeat the Devil in the future Age to Come? Since morning there is no question in my mind that He did and there is ample historical evidence confirming that!

jagbir

(..... to be continued)

July 12, 2021

This is not going to be an easy subject. It will take a series of posts before we can realize our ignorance of what was at stake in the Age that Was and increasingly is at stake today in the present Age that has Come. Only then will it become apparent that Jesus came prepared for the Resurrection, thus becoming the only human to give evidence that there is no death for anyone who follows Him in the future Age when the Paraclete completes His message and commences the Resurrection.

First we have to understand what the Prince of this World did to defeat Jesus, and continues today despite the Paraclete Shri Mataji doing Her best over decades.

Christianity begun with the satanic alliance between the barbaric, concubine-sired Constantine and Pope Sylvester (Bishop of Rome.) Constantine had by then already murdered Crispus (his son by his first wife) in 326, drowned his second wife in the bath, killed his eleven-year-old nephew, and then his brother-in-law. Both benefited enormously from this unholy alliance between Altar and Throne, the power of the Pulpit aligning with the terror of the Sword, a formidable foe that crushed all opposition.

There has been an unholy relationship between this false church and the rulers and kingdoms of the earth. She has been a prostitute to the kings of the earth, both ancient and modern. The Vatican has obtained and kept her influence by allurements and delusions, and seduced others to join her abominations allurements of worldly honor and riches, pomp and pride, suited to sensual and worldly minds. The nations have received her spirit and partaken of her sins. Prosperity, power, pomp and splendor now feed the pride and lusts of Christians, whom she had intoxicated with the wine of her fornication.

Over the centuries the Catholic Church fornicated so many countless times with forbidden pleasures that it became a whorehouse of sin, sacrilege and darkness. As time passed it grew obscenely rich through lust for wealth and power, which were obtained by offering all types of favors with wanton abandonment to kings and subjects, rulers and the ruled, the priestly elite and their faithful followers. She is named, from her infamous practices, a mother of harlots; training them up to idolatry and all sorts of wickedness.

The Catholic Church and her daughters are presently spread across the seven seas with whom Christian kings, princes, prime ministers, politicians and faithful followers, past and present, have had intimate intercourse: sale of indulgences, titles, simony, corruption, bribery, decadence, Inquisition, prosecution, property acquisition, Mafia dealings, share trading, currency speculation, corporate ownership, wealth hoarding, diplomatic establishments and the like. Centuries of Church spiritual decay and religious rape has made Christendom become immoral (drunk) with the sins (wine) of papal intercourse with the Evil One (the Dragon.)

We shudder in fear and shake our heads in utter disbelief that the most vilest empire on Earth is still standing today, a towering testimony to the Prince of Darkness' power and ingenuity that led them to commit the most blasphemous, the most barbaric, the most vilest acts in the name of God. We can only offer historical evidence of popes (the entire clergy will need vast volumes) taken from impeccable sources to prick the conscious of hundreds of millions of its victims. May the Almighty Creator have mercy on all the souls devoured by the Vicars of the Devil, the false prophets who gave them false hope of salvation since the Dark Ages.

— The Prince of Carnal Life His Holiness (Sanctitas) Benedict XII throbbed for the sister of the great scholar, Petrarch, who rejected his offer of a cardinal's hat. This lusty pope still managed to bed this pretty lass by bribing her brother, Gerardo. "Petrarch described anonymously, since he did not want to be burned the papal court as 'the shame of mankind, a sink of vice, a sewer where is gathered all the filth of the world. There God is held in contempt, money alone is worshipped and the laws of God and men are trampled under foot. Everything there breathes a lie: the air, the earth, the houses and above all the bedrooms.'" — His Holiness Benedict IX was eleven years old in October 1032 when he became pope in the footsteps of his father Pope John XIX. His exploits with women brought an early puberty and by the time he was fourteen he had surpassed the exploits of all predecessors. St Peter Damain has this to say: "That wretch, from the beginning of his pontificate to the end of his life, feasted on immorality." Another observer was more precise: "A demon from hell in the guise of a priest has occupied the Chair of Peter."

— His Holiness Alexander VI had two peculiarly bad habits. The first was that "he thought nothing of stealing a man's wife, raping her and tossing her into the Tiber." The second was commissioning cardinals ("Chief of Father") for a handsome fee. This was standard papal practise and we cannot censure enterprise. However, he had a peculiar habit of calling them over for sumptuous meals and poisoning them with arsenic just to increase turnover. Now that is ungentlemanly.

— Stephen VIII had his ears and nose cut off and never had any further public contact, for obvious reasons.

— Leo X (1513-21) became cardinal at the age of thirteen. As a pope he "peddled cardinalities, created new offices sold to the highest bidders, and took the proceeds of the sale of indulgences to pay for his lavish excesses . . ." He is remembered for his appropriate observation: "Let us enjoy the papacy since God has given it to us."

— It was during the siege of Naples in the 15th. century that venereal disease is said to have made its first appearance. "No class seems to have been exempt from it. Sextus della Rovere, nephew [?] of Sextus IV., one of the wealthiest and most debauched ecclesiastics of the age, was 'rotten from his middle to the soles of his feet.' Even the haughty and majestic Julius II., [1503-13], would not expose his fee to the obeisance of the faithful because they were discolored by syphilis. Leo X., his accomplished and munificent successor, was said to have owed his elevation to the fact that he was in such a depraved state of body as to render necessary a surgical operation in the Consistorium while the election [for pope] was proceeding, the Cardinals selecting the most sickly candidate for the papal tiara."

— Pope John XXIII did not believe in the immortality of the soul, the resurrection of the dead and, probably, even the Almighty Creator. But then we have to be cautious and not pass harsh judgment, without looking at his psychological profile. After all, he was "A former pirate, pope-poisoner (poor Filargi), mass-murderer, mass-fornicator (with preference for nuns), adulterer on a scale unknown outside fables, simoniac par excellence, blackmailer, pimp, master of dirty tricks." He could always plead innocence by reason of satanic possession.

— Pope Boniface VIII had a colorful history of sexual adventures. "The pope was bisexual, and certainly catholic in his sexual tastes, having kept a married woman and her daughter as his bedfellows, as well as attempting to seduce a number of handsome young men, apparently with a good measure of success. He was quoted as saying that the sex act was 'no more a sin than to rub your hands together.' "

— Beatissimus Pater (Most Blessed Father), Urban VI "one of the most spiteful and vile-tempered of pontiffs" had three passions drink, religion and revenge. The combination of three proved lethal to his foes, who met agonizing deaths in his torture chambers. Pope Alexander V also had three passions food, servants and money. He was excessive in two and astounding in the other, namely servants. He kept more than four hundred of them all female.

— John Gratian, Archpriest of St John and godfather, advised Pope Benedict IX, that he was entitled to pursue his beautiful cousin and even took the trouble to find a suitable successor himself.

— His Holiness Sylvester was no saint. After divorcing his first wife he sired six children by the second. When she became jaded he dumped her and married a third from whom he had two daughters. In between he had another daughter by a concubine. "Childless by his fourth wife, when she died he kept four concubines twelve was his life-long tally and had at least one child by each."

— Women "Were warned not to enter St John Lateran if they prized their honour." Our Blessed Father John XII was always on the prowl.

— Sanctissimus dominus noster (Our Most Holy Lord) John XII became pope at sixteen. He invented sins "not known since the beginning of the world, including sleeping with his mother." He "even toasted the Devil."

— "No False Prophet ever went to God in a more embarrassing position." John XII was twenty-four when an enraged husband caught him humping his wife "And gave him the last rites with one hammer blow on the back of his head." His Holiness Pope Benedict VII also died under similar circumstances.

— Clement VII, elected in 1342, had a knack for making his cronies happy, especially his cardinals, so that "They could afford the handsomest little boys if they were so inclined or the most beautiful ladies-in-waiting."

— The Most Blessed Father Benedict Gaetani was crowned Pope Boniface VIII in 1294 and was one of the most cruelest, bloodthirsty, sadistic, extravagant, corrupt, greedy, and licentious Vicar of Christ. Only the Devil could have blessed him with such a diabolical character and power. His papal tales of satanic madness are too numerous to quote here. May the quote below testifying to his Dracula-like remains be sufficient to jolt religious prisoners to their senses:

"When, at the completion of the new St Peter's in 1605, his tomb had to be moved, it cracked open. To everyone's consternation, the pontiff's body, after three centuries, was incorrupt. Only his nose and lips had been slightly nibbled away."

— Another satanic sibling who loved pomp, flesh, and torture far more than anything else was the pet pupil of Satan, Our Most Holy Lord Pope Boniface. The Devil must have been in ecstasy just watching him excel in inflicting the most painful of death on Christian victims, and erotic pleasure on wanton women.

— "Catholic belief and dogma is that if a man is validly elected by the authorized electors, the cardinals, then God automatically confers the plenitude of power directly on the pope-elect." In 1046 Pope Clement II accompanied the German king Henry III to Italy where they found "three rival popes claiming the papacy" Sylvester III, Benedict IX, and Gregory VI. Benedict's supporters poisoned His Holiness and "Benedict then appeared in Rome and installed himself as pope." Jean Carrier, one of Benedict's cardinal "elected Bernard Garnier as Benedict XIV, who was thus an antipope countering an already reigning antipope." Celestine II was "elected in December 1124 but resigned a few days later and is not counted in the official list of popes." Damascus II died of malaria after 23 days but made the papal list. All duly elected popes no matter how cruel, licentious, young, or idiotic were selected by God!

— Pope Paul IV, who hated Jews, drew up the Bull Cum nimis absurdum "stressed that the Christ-killers, the Jews, were by nature slaves and should be treated as such." They were enclosed to a particular area called "ghetto," after the Venetian Foundry.

The good news of the Bull: Jews were not slaughtered wholesale. Bad news: Jews to sell their property to Christians at absurdly low prices; barred from commercial activity; had their books burnt; forced to wear yellow hats in public; speak only Italian or Latin; never to employ Christians; never to be addressed as "signor" or "sir," even by beggars; only one synagogue per city; only one entrance per ghetto; all Jews to be locked at night.

This anti-semitism tradition was carried on by Innocent III and the Fourth Council of the Lateran in 1215. "A succession of popes reinforced the ancient prejudices against Jews, treating them as lepers unworthy of the protection of the law. Pius VII was followed by Leo XII, Pius VIII, Gregory XVI, Pius IX all good pupils of Paul IV." Leo XII (1823-9) even forbade vaccination against smallpox during an epidemic.

— During Pope Clement XIV's (1769-74) pontificate "There were four thousand murders in the city."

— Our Holy Father Pope Innocent VIII issued a Bull in December 1484 that considered the "outpourings of insane old women under torture were accepted as part of the Christian faith." This set off the greatest genocide in human history. Hundreds of thousands of women were burnt for prolonging the winter, delaying harvest, causing stillborn births in both human and animals, loss of sexual appetite, and so forth.

— Pope Marcellinus (296-304) was executed for offering sacrifices to idols and his headless body lay rotting in the street for twenty-six days before being buried.

— Emperor Constans went to Rome to patch things up with Pope Vitalian (657-72.) He was knifed in his bath on the way back.

— In 823 AD Rome, Theodorus the primicerius and Leo the nomenclator, were murdered in the papal palace. Pope Paschal defended the murderers and anathematized the victims, pronouncing their deaths to be acts of justice.

— Pope Calixtus (199-217) was tossed to his death through a window by a drunken mob.

— His Holiness Pope Sixtus XIII (1585-90) declared with infuriated vigour: "While I live, every criminal must die!"

— The Most Blessed Father Pope Benedict XII loved inflicting pain and turned his palace into a vast torture chamber "With irregular walls off which the screams and shrieks of prisoners bounced back and forth into silence." Clement VI "pillaged Cesena in 1377, where 4,000 anti-papal rebels were massacred." Pope Stephen IV (768-72) tore out the eyes of an antipope and was incredibly cruel.

He is today venerated as a saint in parts of Sicily.

Popes maimed and were maimed, killed and were killed. Their lives bore no resemblance to the gospels.

— In the early thirteen century the Church showed how it dealt with those who would not surrender to papal dogma during the so-called Albigensian Crusade, which devastated much of France in the process of theological cleansing. At first, it had attempted to reconvert the Albigenes through peaceful means. But when this failed Pope Innocent III ordered an armed Crusade which, within twenty years, wiped out hundreds of thousands of people and left only a few surviving bands of Albigenses hiding out in isolated areas.

— The Inquisition Office was still hunting these unfortunate people till as late as the fourteenth century. Simon de Montfort's massacre of the inhabitants of Beziers during this unholy Crusade demonstrated the cruelty which accused heretics received from the Roman Church as a matter of course. It was on this occasion, when asked how his soldiers could tell a heretic from a Christian, that de Montfort gave his infamous reply: "Slay them all. God knows his own."

— Pope Alexander was poisoned by his successor Our Most Holy Father John XXIII.

— Pope Sergius III disposed and imprisoned Pope Christopher (who had earlier deposed pope Leo V in 903), subsequently having him strangled to death.

— Pope Boniface VI was involved in the death of Pope Forsus, and in turn was murdered by his successor Stephen VI.

— Pope Boniface VII imprisoned pope Benedict VI in June 974 before strangling him "By order of Crescentius." He then imprisoned and presumably murdered former pope, John XIV. He in turn was murdered by a "vengeful Roman mob."

— Gregory I "paid fulsome compliments to the most vicious and brutal rulers of the time Queen Brunichildis of Gaul (Epp., I, 74) and the Emperor Phocas (XIII, 31, 38, and 39) when they promised to help the Church, and shockingly rejoiced in the murders of good men who opposed the Papacy."

— His Holiness Pope John XII (955-63) "Was a true debauchee (referred to by some sources as an 'incestuous satanist'), partially as a result of his pampered upbringing. John was allegedly fatally stricken (possibly apoplexy) in the midst of an adulterous act; he lingered eight days before expiring."

— Beatissimus Pater Pope Julius II was tall, handsome, and naturally, a great womanizer. Thus it was no surprise that "on Good Friday 1508 his Master of Ceremonies reported that his Holiness could not allow his foot to be kissed, 'quia totus erat ex morbo gallico ulcerous', 'it was completely riddled with syphilis'." This was a disease very common among priests, a peculiar clerical health hazard.

— Prostitutes gladly welcomed the clergy with open arms (and legs) since priests always paid premium rates for their sexual services. St Bridget made this remark to Pope Gregory: "The clergy are less priests of God than pimps of the devil."

— Giovanni de' Medici was an abbot at seven, cardinal at thirteen (the youngest ever) and pope at 37. Our Most Holy Lord Pope Leo X was peculiarly pious and had neither mistresses nor bastards. However, he was a latent homosexual, highly addicted to "those pleasures which cannot, with decency, be mentioned."

— Benedict IX (1032-44) gets a lot of votes for being the worst pope. "A depraved lecher infinitely more concerned with carnal pleasures than with the business of running the papacy . . . Like Nero, he achieved the extraordinary: Both managed to shock their contemporaries."

— Our Most Holy Lord Pope John XII "copulated with a long list of ladies, including his father's old flame and his own niece," and ran a harem in the Lateran Palace.

— Pius II acknowledged that Rome was "The only city in the world to be run by bastards" and successive popes made sure history recorded the era as the Golden Age of Bastards. The Most Blessed Father Borgia had ten illegitimate children from pretty Vanozza. Pope Julius II had three while still a cardinal.

— Alexander VI's "eye for pretty woman was said to be infallible, even in old age." From Giulia Farnese, a ravishing 15 year-old beauty married to Orsino Orsini, he sired a daughter, Laura. "That is why Giulia became known throughout Italy as 'the Pope's Whore' and 'the Bride of Christ'." By offering the pleasures of youth to his Holiness she secured a red hat for her brother, the future Paul III, who was thus nicknamed "The Petticoat Cardinal." At the age of fifty-eight Alexander VI took another fresh mistress.

— The False Prophet Pope Alexander VI (1492-1503) was another Borgia. Our Holy Father was "A debauchee whose spiritual concerns were almost entirely overshadowed by matters of flesh, gold, and aggrandizement." He made his son Cesare a cardinal at the age of eighteen even though he was not a priest.

— On October 31, 1501 one of the most blasphemous acts in Vatican history took place in the heart of Christendom. "Cesare invited his favourite sister Lucrezia and the pope, the only other male present, to a festival called 'The Joust of the Whores.' Fifty of Rome's finest danced in increasingly scanty attire before finally disporting themselves naked around the pope's table . . .

In a frenzied finale, the whores fell on their knees, scrambling in the rugs for chestnuts which the Borgias threw to them like hogs."

There were reliable rumors, perhaps for good reason, that His Holiness Pope Alexander VI "preferred an orgy to a high mass."

Vatican life was never dull or wholly evangelical. There were authoritative tales of drunkenness and sexual orgies, some of which were truly inspired by Beelzebub. For example another Prince of Carnal Life, Pope Alexander VI," was reputed to have had incestuous relations with his daughter, the gorgeous Lucrezia. If so, and it is not certain, it was a record even for a Renaissance pope to have had sex with three generations of women: his daughter, her mother and her grandmother."

And St. Bonaventure was absolutely right: "This harlot, he said, makes kings and nations drunk with the wine of her whoredoms. In Rome, he claimed to have found nothing but lust and simony, even in the top ranks of the church. Rome corrupts the prelates, they corrupt their clergy, the clergy corrupt the people."

It was indeed an ungodly union. Rome, already steeped in a history of lust, blood and barbarism, was indeed a warm womb for the Prince of Darkness. The Evil One repeatedly mounted the insatiable, wanton Vatican Whore and impregnated deep inside her the seed of Satan!

Over the last few decades the Beast has started preying on the most innocent, helpless and vulnerable of all its victims children.

And the centuries-old fornication still goes on and on and on ...

SA Catholics admit to abuse

The head of the Roman Catholic Church in South Africa has admitted that about a dozen priests have been accused of sexually abusing children in country. BBC

Irish cardinal regrets abuse

The head of Ireland's Roman Catholic Church has expressed "deep regret" for "Inadequacies" in church responses to allegations of child sex abuse by priests. BBC

HK investigates new child abuse claims

Hong Kong police have said they are investigating new allegations of child sex abuse involving Catholic priests. BBC

US Church agrees child-abuse payout

The Roman Catholic Church in the American state of Rhode Island has agreed to pay more than $13m in compensation to 32 men and women who accused several priests and a nun of child sex abuse. BBC

U.S. Jesuits pay out $7.5 million

The California Province of the Society of Jesus agreed Wednesday to pay a total of $7.5 million to two mentally retarded men who said they were sexually abused for years by Jesuits at a retreat in Northern California, according to sources who participated in the negotiations. LA Times

Catholic priests sorry for NZ abuses

The Roman Catholic Church in New Zealand has delivered an unprecedented public apology to sexual abuse victims. BBC

Record award for church abuse victims

An Australian Roman Catholic order has agreed to pay 3.64m Australian dollars ($2.1m) in compensation to 24 mentally handicapped men who were sexually abused while in its care. BBC

Pope retires sex scandal bishop

Pope John Paul II has accepted the resignation of the Roman Catholic Archbishop of Milwaukee who is alleged to have sexually abused a young priest. BBC

US cardinal accused of molesting woman

The head of the largest Roman Catholic diocese in the United States has revealed that he has been accused of sexual misconduct with a teenage schoolgirl. BBC

Polish Archbishop molested students

The Pope has ordered an inquiry into allegations that a Roman Catholic archbishop in his native Poland sexually abused seminarians and priests. BBC

Archdeacon arrested in child porn inquiry

A senior minister in the Church of England has been arrested in connection with child pornography on the internet. BBC

Canadian natives sue churches

Five native Indians in Canada have launched a lawsuit seeking compensation on behalf of thousands of children who suffered abuse at church-run schools in the province of Ontario. BBC

Diocese's shame over past abuse

Catholic parishioners in Wales were told on Sunday their archbishop of 17 years, the Most Reverend John Ward, had decided to ask the Pope to appoint a co-adjutor or parallel archbishop. BBC

Ireland orders priest abuse inquiry

The Irish Government has ordered a state inquiry into allegations that a Roman Catholic priest who committed suicide three years ago sexually abused children. BBC

Eight years jail for sex priest

A Roman Catholic priest has been jailed for a total of eight years at Cardiff crown court for a string of sex offences. BBC

Clergy checks urged to protect children

A committee set up to advise the Catholic Church on how to stop sexual abuse has called for police checks to be carried out on all clergy, staff and volunteers. BBC

Monks deny school sex abuse claims

Monks at the centre of a police report over claims of sexual and physical abuse at a special school in Scotland have denied the allegations. BBC

School apology over sex abuse teacher

A west Belfast school has apologised to pupils who endured "systematic" sexual abuse by a teacher 25 years ago. BBC

Paedophile accusations trouble the church

There was a time when, almost without exception, a priest was regarded as a respected member of the community. BBC

Abuse inquiry at top Catholic school

An investigation is launched into allegations of child abuse at the London Catholic school attended by Prime Minister Tony Blair's two teenage sons. BBC

Clampdown on clergy abusers planned

Clergy who abuse their position of trust to sexually exploit young people could face jail under proposals to be considered by the government. BBC

Sex abuse priest dug up

A body supposed to be that of a French Catholic priest has been exhumed after a judge in Bordeaux accepted that there were doubts over the corpse's identity. BBC

Catholic Church pays nearly $31 million to sex abuse victims

The Roman Catholic Church in the American city of Dallas has agreed to pay record damages totalling nearly thirty-one million dollars to twelve former altar boys who suffered repeated sexual abuse by a priest. BBC

Austrian bishops label cardinal a paedophile

The Catholic church in Austria has released a statement which says the paedophile accusations levelled at the Archbishop of Vienna, Hans Hermann Groer, are "In essence true." BBC

Girl sexually assaulted by priest after seeking food: witness

Eric Dejaeger on trial for dozens of sexual abuse charges dating to the 1970's and 80s
CBC News Posted: Nov 20, 2013 12:52 PM CT Last Updated: Nov 20, 2013 10:33 PM CT

The Roman Catholic Diocese of Cleveland has become the latest in the United States to suspend priests amid allegations that they sexually abused children in the past.

A witness testifying at the trial of Eric Dejaeger in Iqaluit told the court on Wednesday that the accused sexually assaulted her after she sought food at the church.

The 41-year-old woman said her family in Igloodik, Nunavut, was sometimes hungry for days at a time between 1978 and 1982, the years when Eric Dejaeger was the priest in the remote community.

The Roman Catholic priest, 66, is on trial for dozens of sexual abuse charges, relating to incidents alleged to have occurred while Dejaeger was in Igloodik.

Some shocking allegations have already been made in court this week, including alleged abuse against young girls, boys and animals.

<http://www.cbc.ca/news/>

Web (November 21, 2013)

Demons from hell in the guise of popes who have occupied the Chair of Peter:

http://adishakti.org/his_human_adversary/the_first_commandment.htm

http://adishakti.org/his_human_adversary/the_second_commandment.htm

http://adishakti.org/his_human_adversary/the_third_commandment.htm

http://adishakti.org/his_human_adversary/the_fourth_commandment.htm

http://adishakti.org/his_human_adversary/the_fifth_commandment.htm

http://adishakti.org/his_human_adversary/the_sixth_commandment.htm

http://adishakti.org/his_human_adversary/the_seventh_commandment.htm

http://adishakti.org/his_human_adversary/the_eight_commandment.htm

http://adishakti.org/his_human_adversary/the_ninth_commandment.htm

http://adishakti.org/his_human_adversary/the_tenth_commandment.htm

(..... to be continued)